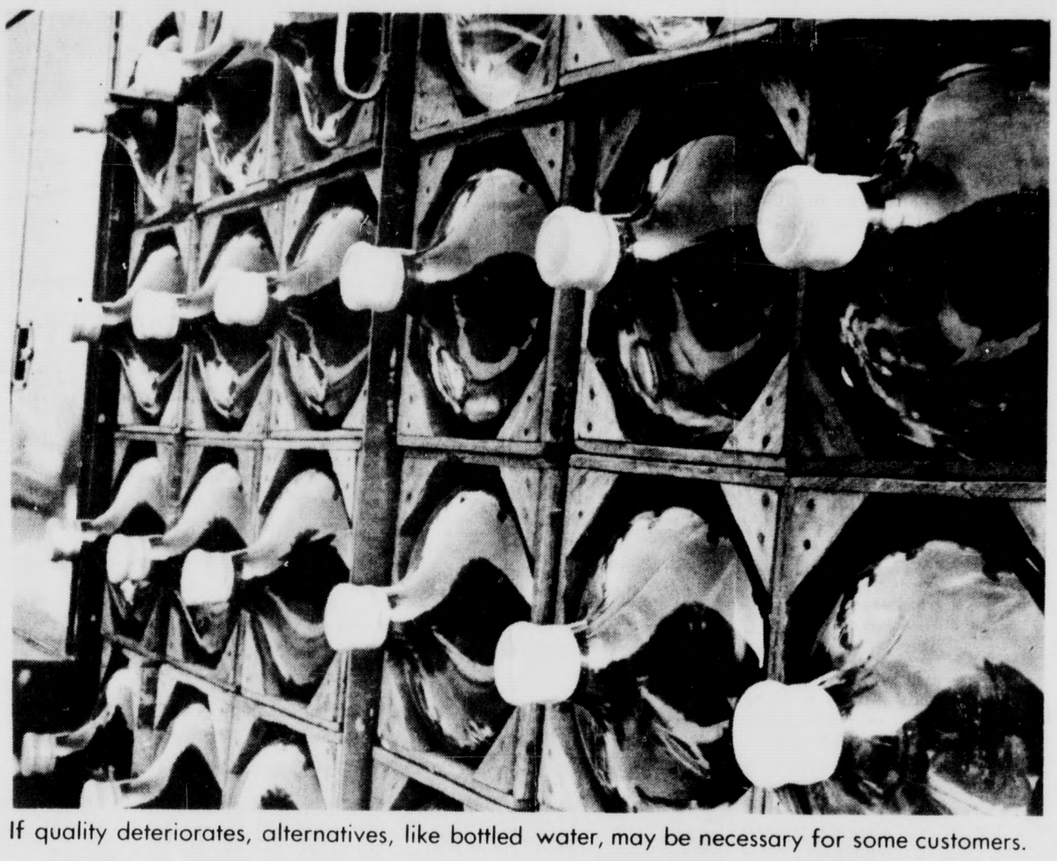
Water quality nosedives



If quality deteriorates, alternatives, like bottled water, may be necessary for some customers.

DUBLIN — Since no appreciable amount of raindrops have been falling on our heads during the past months, water quality as well as quantity has been diminished in Zone 7 of Alameda County's flood control district, the valley's supplier.

The Delta is the water source for Zone 7. It is suffering from salt water intrusion. Unless fresh water is forthcoming, the salinity level will continue to rise. This drastically lowers the quality, according to Paul Ryan, general manager of the Valley Community Services District (VCSD). VCSD is the water agency for Dublin.

VCSD, along with the cities of Pleasanton and Livermore, have water provided from Zone 7. Water from the Delta is brought into these areas through an aqueduct.

Besides the problem of salinity, other total dissolved solids (TDS) are involved.

State regulations specify the TDS level should not exceed 500 milligrams per litre as far as aesthetic limits go, according to a spokesman from the Alameda County Environmental Healh Services.

"At this point the state advises the water agency to seek an alternate source," he said.

One thousand milligrams per litre is the ultimate level allowed before total shutdown is required, the spokesman said.

Presently, Dublin's reading is fluctuating between 350 to 400, according to Ryan.

The Patterson and Del Valle water treatment plants which are involved in supplying Livermore and Pleasanton are nearing minimum limits. Patterson is showing 490 TDS milligrams per litre; Del Valle, 502, according to Pierre Petrovich. He is a chemist for Zone 7.

Unless this problem is solved, serious effects could be felt by consumers, according to the East Bay Municipal Utility District (EBMUD). They indicated people on salt-free diets would probably have to find alternate drinking water.

VCSD's water quality problem is alleviated somewhat since 25 per cent of their supply comes from Dublin's underground well system. VCSD contracts with Zone 7 for the other 75 per cent.

"Zone 7 also has its wells but they are not used extensively," Ryan said. "If Zone 7 does have to resort to using them, our water hardness will increase. If water cutbacks continue, these wells will more than likely have to be used as a source for the west end of the valley." — by Sue Vogelsanger

Another fair change by a supervisor

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Pleasanton Planning Commissioner Bill Jamieson has been appointed to the county fair association board of directors by county supervisor Valerie Raymond.

He replaces Fremont banker Jack Brooks.

Jamieson joins the board of directors while its operations are being examined by county supervisors and its labor practices challenged before a federal board.

He was public relations director for the Sandia Corp. and co - chairman of CAGE — Committee Against the Garbage Environment — in that group's successful fight to stop the gravel pits from becoming a garbage dump.

He said he is going to the board "with no preconceptions."

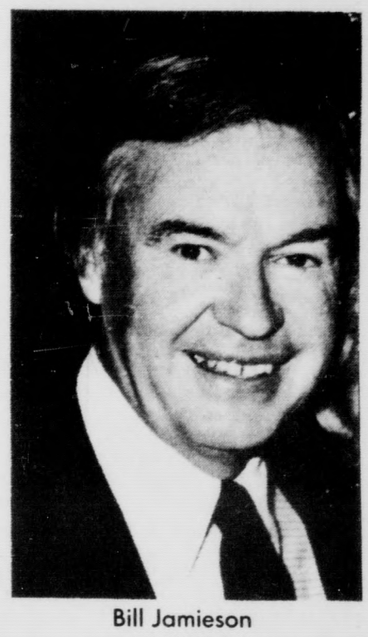
Brooks, also on the board of directors of the Oakland Raiders, was appointed by former supervisor John D. Murphy.

Raymond said she asked for Brooks' resignation "so that I might make my own appointment." She said the Fremont banker told her he already was prepared to submit a letter of resignation.

Fair board directors, unlike commission appointments, serve at the pleasure of the board.

It's the second change on the quasi - independent, 21-member fair association board of directors in the past two weeks.

Newly elected north county supervisor John George removed Jeanette Ceremello, the first and only woman to serve on the board, replacing her with former Oakland Mayoral candidate Otho Green.



Bill Jamieson

Raymond and fellow supervisor Fred Cooper serve on a special board committee investigating and analyzing the fair operation and board makeup.

The fair board's contract with the county expires in October.

The fair association also has problems on the labor front.

Two former employes have filed complaints with the National Labor Relations Board claiming they were fired for union organizing. They charge general manager Lee Hall "harassed" employes who voted for the union in two unsuccessful organizing drives.

Mission Park plan

Lawyer balks at PUD

PLEASANTON — A veiled threat of another law suit over sewer connections, this time in Mission Park, was spoken by attorney John Corley at the city council meeting Monday night.

Corley, speaking for a group of Mission Hill investors, asked the city council to keep the flat portion of the group's 53 acres in R-1 single family zoning. In this way, the group could build 20 or 30 homes a year and at least get back equity on taxes on the property, if not make a big sum.

But the staff wants the whole area in a Planned Unit Development so that the city will have more control over the construction, especially on the hilltop. Past city councils and the neighbors have expressed strong concern about how single family homes with yards would wreck the hill if they were permitted.

Mission Park Investors realize that clustered housing is the way to develop the hilltop, said Corley. If the city wants that, then put the hilltop in the Hillside Development Plan, said the attorney, but leave the lower flat portion in R-1 single family homes.

John Corley

The group, which has owned the property for 15 years, has an agreement with the city for 260 sewer connections. This type of agreement was held valid in court in the Morrison case, Corley reminded the council. Mission Park Investors has not sued the city, but it appears that the way to get sewer connections is to sue the city, since it worked for Morrison, said Corley.

MPI wants to work along with the city and in that light Corley wanted to meet with staff and "get the benefit of all the planning information that exists" on the parcel. The council granted him a two week delay for that purpose.

There appear to be at least two votes for the PUD. Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire wondered why MPI doesn't submit to a PUD.

Santa Rita clamps down on women

SANTA RITA (AP) — Privileges for all of Santa Rita Prison's 140 women inmates have been revoked and 26 women have been placed in maximum security following a Feb. 6 disturbance, Alameda County officials revealed today.

Sheriff's Lt. George Vien said $1,000 damage was done by 53 women who ripped sprinklers from ceilings, kicked out door panels and overturned lockers. The melee started when an inmate and a deputy argued in a mess hall.

He said all women at the jail will have to earn back privileges, including commissary, visiting and television.

Vien said the troublemakers were being housed in the Greystone section, which normally is a men's unit.

Vien said there have been a few skirmishes but male prisoners were helping keep the situation in hand by yelling at the women to shut up when they make noise.

Chowchilla defendants look at TV newscasts

OAKLAND (AP) — Two of the three defendants in last July's mass kidnaping of 26 Chowchilla children and their school bus driver sat impassively Wednesday as emotional television newscasts of the bizarre saga were played in an Oakland courtroom.

Frederick N. Woods and James L. Schoenfeld, both 25, are attempting to have the trial moved from Oakland to San Francisco. Woods' attorney, Herbert Yanowitz, screened the news programs during the third day of a change of venue hearing.

Woods swallowed hard a couple of times and licked his lips nervously during the emotion - charged reunion of the youngsters with their families. The red-haired Schoenfeld sat stoney-faced, his hands crossed in his lap.

The two smiled and chatted amiably with each other during recesses.

The third defendant, Schoenfeld's 22-year-old brother, Richard, did not join in the motion to move the trial and has not been in court. His attorney says he is satisfied with Oakland as the trial site. No date has been set for the trial.

Screened at venue change hearing

Yanowitz succeeded last November in getting the trial moved out of Madera County, where the kidnaping occurred last July 15 on an isolated rural road. The next day the young captives clawed their way out of a moving van buried in a Livermore rock quarry.

Yanowitz contends that pretrial publicity was so inflammatory it made a fair trial impossible in either Madera County or Alameda County, where the rock quarry is located.

He said a professional public opinion poll he financed in four Northern California counties revealed less prejudice in San Francisco County.

Prosecutor David Minier, the Madera County district attorney who will have to commute to the trial site, argues Yanowitz wants the trial in San Francisco only because it would be more convenient because that is where the defense attorney's office is located.

The defense team showed Superior Court Judge Leo Deegan nearly six hours of news footage from four television stations — one in Oakland and three in San Francisco. Deegan, a Riverside jurist for 16 years, was called out of retirement to handle the case.

The change of venue hearing, which began Monday, is expected to conclude Thursday.

All of the defendants, being held in jail in lieu of $1 million bail each, will return to court Feb. 28 for a hearing on their motion to quash the indictments against them on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Pleasanton Demo leaders

Alan Grossman was chosen president of the Pleasanton Democratic Club Tuesday night. Ken Hart was elected vice - president, Birdie Bianchi secretary and Anna Martinsen treasurer.

The club has grown from 55 to 70 members in the past month and is considering a name change to reflect the fact it has many members from Dublin and Livermore, too.

The club's next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. March 15 in the Pleasanton Library. Proposed new bylaws will be discussed. The club also will be asked to make a commitment of $500 for one year toward establishment of a south County Democratic Club headquarters.

Thoughtful students praised

The student body of Pleasanton's Harvest Park School got a round of applause from the audience at the city council meeting Monday night.

The adults were applauding the student body president's annuouncement that 15 students raised money at a car wash to pay off vandalism to some city trees recently.

None of the students in the car wash was involved in the vandalism which occurred after at dance at Harvest Park School. In fact, it is not certain that any Harvest Park Students were involved in the incident. Young people from other schools attended the dance, too.

But the kids in the car wash thought they would show a good gesture to the city by presening the money to buy new trees. They also will help the city plant the trees, said Student Body President Derek Brannan.

Annual VMH meet tonight

The annual meeting of the Valley Memorial Hospital Association takes place at 8 o'clock tonight in the hospital cafeteria.

Results of the election for three seats on the board of directors will be announced. The three candidates running unopposed, are Joseph Sladky, Jack Bras and Edwin C. Rundstrom. Ballots have been sent to all association members. Polls close at 8 p.m. at the hospital.

Awards will be given to Ted Fairfield, out - going chairman of the board; James Merritt, retiring director; Dr. Claude Burdick, chief of the medical staff; and Mrs. Della Dibley, past Auxiliary president.

On the agenda are reports by VMH administrator Thomas Andrews on 1976 hospital activity; Dr. Burdick on medical staff actions; and Mrs. Dibley on 1976 Auxiliary efforts.

Water unit ponders pipeline

Valley water management officials will meet tonight to discuss scheduling a revenue bond election to support a wastewater disposal project.

Members of the Livermore - Amador Valley Management Agency (LAVWMA) will meet at 5:30 p.m. at Livermore City Council Chambers, 39 South Livermore Avenue Ave.

LAVWMA directors will also consider Tuesday's action by the Regional Water Quality Control Board which granted a partial lifting of the ban on additional sewage hookups. The relief will be granted if LAVWMA begins design work on the disposal project by March 4.

The joint Valley board is mulling over three alternative disposal plans, including export to Suisun Bay, or dumping points in north or south San Francisco Bay. A bond election to finance the project's local share, estimated at $10 million, could either be held May 31 or Nov. 8.

Springtown center to include big market

LIVERMORE — A grocery store for Springtown was assured this week when city council ordered that any shopping center constructed there must include at least 8,000 square feet for the food shop.

Wolfgang Hahn, attorney for developer Christopher D. Sickles of San Diego, told council current first phase plans include 11,900 square feet for a grocery store. The convenience market located at the site, next to the Holiday Inn, contains 3,000 square feet.

Hahn said the initial construction would also include a liquor store, beauty shop and other unnamed services.

In other business this week, council:

— approved preparation of an ordinance to rezone residential property along Trevarno Road from industrial to suburban residential. Also accepting a negative declaration, council noted the area should be given consideration for possible inclusion in a future historical preservation district.

— gave moral support to Los Angeles County which is currently fighting federal legislation providing mandatory unemployment insurance coverage for all public employees beginning Jan. 1 next year.

L.A. County Supervisor Pete Schabarum wrote to Mayor Helen Tirsell, noting his county's expected cost would be $24 million per year. City Manager Bill Parness told council the cost to Livermore would be $68,000.

— agreed with the concept of a volunteer program for city agencies, but noted having a professionally run program would require paid services of at least a part time director. Council agreed to weigh the needs of a volunteer program against other city needs before acting.

Administrative intern Barbara Hempill prepared the detailed study that compared volunteer programs in Oakland, San Leandro, Santa Clara County and Livermore Unified School District. Parness said the comparison requested by council would take two or three weeks.

— asked Parness for an in depth report on possible use of revenue sharing funds for a new city hall. Recent efforts to obtain grants have failed and the city also considered a bond vote by Livermore residents.

— approved hiring a coordinator for the First Street overhead project, with a salary range of $1,400 to $1,700 monthly.

'Back to Three-R's'

Candidates want basics

The five candidates for the Murray School District are virtually unanimous in calling for greater concentration on the 3 R's, a return to emphasis on basic skills.

Speaking before a Dublin Chamber of Commerce audience Wednesday, the five gave capsule summaries of their backgrounds and presented what each felt were the main areas for improvement in the district.

Donald Biddle, who opens each of his presentations by telling his home phone number for those with additional questions, said "The district has to open-up the system and let the public know what's going on, finance-wise." He noted that the district has a current total enrollment of about 5,200, supported on a $4 per $100 assessed valuation base.

Linda Cooley signaled the prevailing theme of the day by commenting, "Quality education — the basic skills — is the most important issue."

She then criticized the district administration for "spending over $1.5 million in developing a school site without first even getting permission from the state." The reference is to the 27 - acre Dolan school site in Silvergate, which the district had hoped to develop a junior high school on.

David Foster contended one of the things the district has lacked is a comprehensive, long range plan.

In referring to the school board's action to convert Frederiksen School to seventh-eighth grade use, Foster said the matter was a "whitewash." A Citizens Advisory Committee had recommended conversion of Dublin School but the final board vote pegged Frederiksen, currently a K-6 facility.

Linda Jeffery, a resident of Dublin the past 14 years, claimed the district has dropped 200 in enrollment this year "and will lose about 100 for each of the next five years — though I'm sure it will be more than that."

Mrs. Jeffery had chided former superintendent Donald Williams at a candidates night Tuesday at Dublin School, saying "I feel Dr. Williams had gotten a little behind the times" (in reference to his supposed insistence that rising enrollments would necessitate a school on the Dolan site).

Harry Molz, a resident of Dublin 10 years and father of seven children who have all attended Murray schools, said the single-most important product of a six-year or eight-year school system is a child who is skilled in the basics.

"It is time to eliminate some, not all, of the frills. We have got to get back to the three R's."

Molz felt an equally important concern was opening the channel of communications between the school board and community.

The five are vying for two positions to be open on the Murray board March 8. Mrs. Jeffery is the lone incumbent. A second board member, Dr. Ted Woy, elected not to seek another term.

All will be seeking four-year terms on the board.

At present, makeup of the board includes, in addition to Mrs. Jeffery and Dr. Woy, Anne Henderson, Pete Snyder and Bob Foster.

Murray candidates have three forums scheduled next week, starting with one Tuesday night at Lydiksen School in Pleasanton. The following two nights they will be hosted by parent groups at Nielsen nd Fallon schools in Dublin.

Citizen aides on wastewater recommended

PLEASANTON — Formation of a citizens advisory committee to the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency was recommended by the CARD Committee Monday night.

CARD, a local civic group, told the city council that a panel of technically experienced citizens in this research - oriented Valley could be of great assistance in doing accurate studies toward solving the Valley's wastewater problems.

CARD made the recommendation as part of a prepared statement opposing construction of any wastewater pipeline out of the Valley.

City Council members thanked spokesperson Anna Martinsen for reading the statement, but had no response. Later in the meeting council members decided to wait two weeks before taking a position. Meanwhile LAVWMA will meet and more should be known about various alternatives to the pipeline.

CARD, which favors the recycling of wastewater within the Valley, listed three reasons for opposing a wastewater piepeline. First, the pipeline would throw away water that should be recycled during the current drought.

Second, cost analysis doesn't justify spending $40 million on the pipeline. This is especially true of all the energy costs implied in pumping water over the hill to Hayward, said the group.

Third, the public has not been shown all the alternatives in a fair and accurate way, said the group.

JoAnn Tobias doesn't let her 5 feet 2, 100 pound frame hold her back, even when she's flooring her husband Jim, who towers a foot taller!

lifestyle

Wham! Pow! It's love!

There's nothing like a little physical contact to spark a romance — and when it leads to marriage no one is surprised! To this day, Jim Tobias doesn't seem to mind when his wife JoAnn clamps a stranglehold on him or throws him to the ground with lightning speed.

To Jim, it's all part of a day's work. A second degree jujitsu instructor, the six footer first met JoAnn at the University of California at Davis where they both took judo classes. Their romance blossomed through three years of throws, strikes and parries. At 100 pounds and a foot shorter, JoAnn reassures unbelieving friends, "These throws don't take much effort on my part."

A computer programmer at the Lawrence Livermore Lab by day, JoAnn keeps limber with the couple's jujitsu evening classes at their recently acquired studio on N. Livermore Avenue. Together the Tobiases teach over 120 techniques — and know them by their Japanese names — to students ranging from beginners to more advanced.

The classes first began through the Livermore school district's adult education program, with self-defense for women. The program has also provided Jim and Jo Ann with other tools for their trade, including a lettering class that has produced scrolls any Japanese calligrapher would be proud of, and an income tax course. "We like teaching the self-defense class at our studio," explains Jim, "because it gives us no limitations on who or what we can teach."

JoAnn, who will take the second degree black belt test next month, says they don't mind the time their favorite sport takes "since we can do it together." A food inspector for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Jim describes jujitsu as "a gentle art that can even help a person learn to control his temper."

The Japanese sport was brought to America by Hawaiian-born Seishiro Okazaki, who was the first to introduce martial arts to Caucasians. Okazaki, according to Jim, developed jujitsu by combining many of the ancient arts until he arrived at an art that is so versatile it is used for everything from self-defense to curing arthritis and acne!

While beginners are taught simple holds, the more advanced students must understand physiology and anatomy in order to determine points on the body that can cause paralysis, stop circulation and shut off air. "We are taught to take a person apart," points out JoAnn, "but also how to put them together again with restorative techniques."

The couple instructs their students in arbitration, pointing out that the Kodenkan system of jujitsu in using an opponent's weight against him can easily kill him, too. "You've got to learn to be aware," emphasizes JoAnn, "and be able to decide right away whether you intend to kill the attacker or just stop him."

In stressing the importance of trying to calm the opponent, Jim says, "We tell students Okazaki's belief that if you can make a friend of the enemy the war is won."

Anyone interested in learning more about jujitsu may visit Yoshin Jitsu Kai (or Willow Heart School) at 119 N. Livermore Avenue on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Livermore questions council

LIVERMORE — This week's city council open forum found residents blasting the idea of an export pipeline, complaining of city action to condemn a tree for a roadway, and asking if it was all right to water gardens.

Paul Tull, a veteran council watcher, said he was representing the Committee Against Re-Development (CARD) when he noted an export pipeline was "throwing away a valuable resource in a region that faces a desperate situation with no relief in sight."

Noting that 40 per cent of the valley's wastewater is used for irrigation, he said "Technology is available and economically practical to solve the apparant salt balance."

Tull said operating cost for pipeline pumping power is "questionable in today's energy crisis."

"The energy expended per day would be equivalent to that required to lift 45,000 full sized automobiles from the valley floor over Boehmer Summit on the Dublin Canyon Pass," he added.

"The solutions have been pre - conditioned by artificial constraints and opinions," he said.

Tull claimed the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency "would not be acting in the public interest were it to amend the existing joint powers agreement in such a manner as to remove the requirement of voter approval of facilities accommodating greater than 13 million gallons a day."

He said CARD also would object to expenditure of more than $1.5 million noting more than $500,000 has been spent on studies to date.

He said CARD recommended formation of an advisory committee of technically qualified citizens.

During the same forum Monday, William Hurdlow, 1143 Aberdeen Ave., told council that "As a member of the public, it is not in my interest to take another man's land," referring to possible condemnation efforts by the city for a slice of Elba Leonard's yard for extension of Railroad Ave.

"I'd like to see someone get up and say their needs are great enough to warrant taking this man's property," he said.

Sizzler invites seniors

The Sizzler Steak House, known for the low price and generous servings of excellent cuisine, has joined the Livermore - Amador Valley Senior Citizens Gold Card Discount Program. Herb Slack (right rear), manager of the Sizzler, at 3064 Pacific Ave. in Livermore, is offering a 10 per cent discount to seniors on any of the delicious meals served. Edith Johnston, left rear, and Beulah Young, center, both active in the Gold Card program, presented Herb with his plaque denoting the discount. The couple in front is Max Christian Sr. and his wife of 54 years, Edna Christian. Eighty-four years young, this dynamic duo walks 10 blocks every day. The halfway mark is the Sizzler, where they take on fuel and then continue their journey.

Pleasanton dramatists

The drama class at Pleasanton School, under the direction of Kay Johnson, will present "The Will" and "Once Upon a Playground" this morning starting at 9:15 for sixth graders at the school and all interested parents. Twenty-seven seventh and eighth graders will perform, including this group shown in costume and makeup for the latter play. "The Will" was written by Kenneth Williams. On Friday, the drama class will host Ed Holmes of the Sons of the Berkeley Mime Troupe. The class will also be presenting a drama production this spring. (Times photo)

New commercial land pegged for valuation

LIVERMORE — Finance Director George Nolan will be notifying the county assessor that 80 acres of land, made available for commercial development since the railroad relocation project, should be reassessed.

City Manager Bill Parness, in his weekly report to the city council at the end of their Monday meeting, said reassessment should be made by March 1.

In other report topics, Parness:

— praised the staff of the water reclamation plant for earning the distinction of having the best run treatment plant in the Bay Area.

— announced the plans for the First Street overpass are 40 per cent complete. He expects the project to go to bid in March and award the contract in April.

— said the beautification committee is arranging a meeting with CALTRANS officials about First Street improvements.

— noted salt build ups on local golf courses. He said Public Works Director Dan Lee is investigating possibility of interconnecting domestic lines from the Red Baron Restaurant to water city grown grain. He also noted high amounts of boron in local well water.

— called the recent annual training session for executive management in the city "worthwhile" and said a similar training session was in the works for mid management.

— announced that of 550 applications for a policeman's job, the city has finished screening. He said 43 are now on the eligibility list.

— said fire station number four in the Granada area is 50 per cent complete and should be ready for occupancy by April. He said local fire officials consider the construction quality to be outstanding.

— announced the Sandia Home Committee and Lawrence Livermore Lab have donated $662 to Project Horizons, a youth counseling service of the city.

SHYNESS COURSE

Aided by a student co-leader, Miss Smith, who has a master's degree in clinical psychology, works with groups of 10 students.

So far, she has had students from each of the six Claremont colleges, an equal number of men and women. Students' shyness ranges from speaking out in class and asking for a date to saying hello to other students on campus, Miss Smith said.

Youth month

Youth Art Month is sponsored in March by the Livermore School District and the Livermore Cultural Arts Council. Artwork by students in grades K through 8 will be displayed throughout the downtown business district, as well as at the public library and education center in Livermore that month.

All youth in Livermore may enter one piece of two-dimensional art (not to exceed 18x24 inches) through their school office, or by contacting Carolyn Ramsey at 447-0590 by Feb. 24. The work will be matted and hung by volunteers.

Local observance of National Youth Art Month began three years ago to promote an understanding of the value of art in the education of the young.

Top billing

The Livermore Potters Guild has captured a booth at the main entrance to the huge 'World of Plants and Crafts Show' organized by Bill Graham Feb. 18-27 at San Francisco's Cow Palace. Creative stoneware, including ceramic-framed mirrors, by Jan Wax will complement porcelain pots and plates by Cindy Posehn. Both are accomplished potters who hope to open a shop soon at The Bookhaven on First Street in Livermore. Dollar discount coupons to the extravagant show are available at Bookhaven and the LAA Gallery at the Carnegie Building. Show hours are noon to 10 p.m.

He'll toot his horn

Bryan Waugh, son of Alfred and Carol Waugh of Pleasanton, recently tuned up for his performance with the "World's Finest" United States Navy Band from Washington, D.C., by practicing with the Navy band of San Francisco.

Bryan, a student at Amador Valley High School, was chosen as one of ten outstanding high school band members from the Bay Area to play with the nationally-acclaimed Navy band in two concerts at the Masonic Auditorium. He has played the french horn with a local jazz band as well as his school band.

Living Sound tonight

Living Sound International, a musical group whose brass sound has been compared to 'Chicago,' comes to Livermore for a concert tonight at 7:30 p.m. at St. Charles Borromeo Church. The group has brought its repertoire of gospel songs to Southern Africa, Southeast Asia, Israel, the West Indies, and recently behind the Iron Curtain in Europe. The group has released seven records that have gained critical acclaim, and has sung in 2,000 church concerts across the country.

"JFK Lives" will undoubtedly have a long life at Montgomery Playhouse in San Francisco.

Now in previews, this original one man show written by and starring Mark McIntire reviews several critical points in his latter public and private years, closing with Dallas assassination footage.

His critically - acclaimed eight month starring role in the John F. Kennedy - like - role of "Adam King" led to the creation of this new production.

The play attempts to meld the grace, youth and humor of the public JFK with the sensitive private moments of his family and close friends.

Fortunately, McIntire as JFK does not fall into a series of Henny Youngman one - liners ala Whitemore - Truman. There is a strong attempt at sensitivity but the basic flair for the role is not as researched and practiced as portrayals of Truman, Mark Twain and Will Rogers .

A ten-foot television screen is utilized to project vintage newsreels and television clips of the Kennedy era.

The opening sequences of the play at the cozy, 125-seat Montgomery Playhouse include footage of and comments about Marilyn Monroe and make oblique references to Kennedy's alleged tete-a-tetes with movie queens of the day.

The show on the whole is quite appealing but suffered opening night from some minor lighting and screening problems, as well as an uncertain ending — which finds McIntire - Kennedy soaking in a tub composing his Dallas Merchandise Mart speech as footage of the fatal moments of the assassination are screened.

Previews continue Tuesdays through Sundays at 8:30 p.m. World premiere performance is Friday, Feb. 25. Advance reservations may be obtained by writing to the Montgomery Playhouse at 622 Broadway in San Francisco or calling 788-8282.

The Birds are coming!

Chabot College's Humanities Division will present this hilarious satire on bureacracy and social corruption in the Chabot auditorium in Hayward March 4, 5, 11 and 12. Glenn DuBose, who scored with his Pleasanton Playhouse-Chabot direction of "George M.," will direct and the original music will be by Rudy Foglia of the Chabot music staff.

DuBose says The Birds is "incredibly timely because political conmen and official red tape were just as annoying to Aristophanes back then (in the 5th Century B.C.) as they are to us today; without in any way updating the material, we are discovering in rehearsals that Aristophanes said it all when it comes to a comic view of how a society 'organizes.'"

Another reminder that Chabot will present the Newport Jazz Festival All-Stars this Sunday at 8 p.m. Admission is a bargain $2 and tickets may be purchased today at the Pleasanton Recreation Department.

CC coaches selected

It's only apropos that Niels Waidtlow of Campolindo and Al Hurtado of College Park will coach the 1977 Contra Costa All-Star football team.

Both mentors led their schools to conference football titles in 1976, the first for each.

Waidtlow, who piloted the Campolindo Cougars to a Foothill championship with a 6-0 standing, was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1956. His Cougars were 8-2 overall this past season, losing to a strong Hayward team and to Salesian in the NCS playoffs.

Hurtado, a 1964 graduate of San Jose State University, led College Park to a 9-1 record this past gridiron campaign. The Falcons lost a pre - league contest to Alhambra and then went on to score eight straight Diablo Valley Athletic League wins. To top off the season, CP defeated Mt. Diablo in the Turkey Bowl battle.

Waidtlow played service football and accepted his first coaching job at Acalanes High School in 1957. He was in charge of the junior varsity team there and his 1959 squad went undefeated. His quarterback was Tom Strain, who later went on to play for University of the Pacific as well as Diablo Valley College. Strain, now a member of the Los Medanos College grid staff, is a former Contra Costa all-star coach.

Waidtlow moved on to Campolindo in 1962. There he assisted Rod O'Meara as the varsity line coach through 1971. The next year, Niels assumed the head coaching reins.

His 1975 team went 8-2 and finished second in the FAL to Alhambra.

Niels likes to operate a wide-open offense, stressing the passing game. The Cougars passed for more than 2,000 yards last autumn behind the aerial wizardry of quarterback Harley Miller and the catching of Jim Roux.

Of his coaching assignment in the Aug. 20 game against Alameda County, Waidtlow noted, "I feel it's a distinct honor. The game is played for a worthy cause and I feel privileged to be associated with the All-Star Classic. Contra Costa has always done well in this game."

Hurtado has been at College Park 12 years, the last three as the head football man.

Al, a quarterback and defensive back at DVC and San Jose State, said, "I've always felt that to represent our league and our school in such a game as this is a great thrill."

I've watched every All-Star Classic except one and it's always been a great satisfaction to watch our players compete in it. I think it's a highlight of a coach's career to be selected."

Al continued, "This is sort of a triumph for our whole coaching staff. The success of the Falcon team brought this honor my way, so I accept it for them too."

Hurtado emphasized, "I think the Classic is a great cause to begin with. Any time you can do anything for charity, you should."

The contest benefits United Cerebral Palsy of Alameda and Contra Costa counties and the Kiwanis Youth Fund.

Alameda County co-coaches are Bob Springer of Washington High of Fremont and Carroll France of Sunset in Hayward.

Falcons stun Pokes

The thin line between the top of the East Bay Athletic League and the bottom was whacked senseless by Foothill High's basketball team last night. Reserve guard Chas Dean made up for two costly fouls he had earlier committed and sank both ends of a one - and - one free throw situation with six seconds left to give the Falcons a 60-56 upset win over Livermore in Pleasanton.

The Falcons dominated three quarters of play to win their third game of the season against nine losses, while the 'Pokes saw their nine - game winning streak, and possible EBAL title go down the tubes, slipping into second place in the EBAL at 9-3. The Cowboys put together a storybook comeback in the final two minutes to almost snatch away the win that seemed of little interest to them in the first 30 minutes. Trailing 57-45 with 2:08 left to play, the 'Pokes started their comeback when Tim Jenkins hit two free throws with 2:02 showing. Dick Patterson came back to hit one out of two free throws to make it it 57-48, but Mark McCreary grabbed the rebound for the 'Pokes to push through a jumper that sliced the lead down to 57-50 with 1:37 to go.

Livermore, utilizing a full court press, stole the ball twice and picked up two personals from Dean to cut the lead to 58-53 with :43 left. The Falcons, who blew three chances to sew the game up by missing three one - and - one free throw opportunities, then watched as Jenkins popped in a 22-foot bomb to tie the game cutting the score down to 58-56 with 20 seconds left. However, a crucial travelling on Rick Cleveland and Dean's free tosses put the game in the bag for the Falcons.

Steve Sperber, the EBAL's leading scorer, grabbed 17 rebounds and scored 21 points to pace the impressive Foothill team. Guard Pat Geck, who only scored seven points, still played a fine game.

AMADOR VALLEY 53, SAN RAMON 52 — Rick Maynard's two free throws with two seconds remaining gave Amador the win over the Wolves.

Amador, down by as much as five points at the start of the fourth quarter, rallied to go ahead at 45-44 on a 15-foot jump shot by Mike Hansen with 3:55 left.

The Dons' John Sevo went to the line with less than 10 seconds left and missed a free throw. The Wolves got the ball back and missed two more shots which decided the game.

MONTE VISTA 83, DUBLIN 52 Bob Devinzenci scored 16 points to lead the Mustangs over Dublin.

Lapp impressive in Chabot net win

HAYWARD — Chabot College's men's tennis team had a losing season last year, has only one returning veteran and is dominated by freshmen yet coach Ross Shoemaker is optimistic about the team's chances in the Golden Gate Conference race.

Shoemaker's chargers took a decisive 9-0 victory over visiting Alameda here yesterday in a non-conference match.

Lapp, the only former East Bay Athletic League player on the Gladiator team, won his second-seeded match, defeated Clark Hayes, 6-1, 6-2. Lapp also took part in the top-seeded doubles competiton where he teamed with Mark Warrender for a impressive 6-4, 6-1 victory.

"Ron is a good player," admitted Shoemaker. "He's really come along and figures big in our doubles team plans. In fact, our doubles teams should be our strong point this season."

Last year, the Gladiators were 2-7 in GGC action (one of the wins coming on a forfeit) and sent no netters to the Northern California Tournament. This year Shoemaker hopes for some changes.

"That's our goal, all right," he said. "To send some players to the Northern California Tournament. And we have a chance, especially in the doubles competition."

The biggest obstacle in the Gladiators' way is the competition in the Golden Gate Conference itself.

The conference has the defending state champion in Foothill, plus two other teams which finished in the top five at state, West Valley and DeAnza.

"That makes it rough," he admitted. "That plus the fact Diablo Valley is supposed to have one of its toughest-ever teams this season."

The GGC is probably the toughest conference in the state, if not the country. Foothill draws athletes from Palo Alto and Gunn high schools, which annually rank among the country's finest prep net teams. DeAnza and West Valley also draw from some outstanding prep talent. The entire Santa Clara Valley is a hotbed for prep tennis.

As is the Bay Area as a whole.

"More of the "good" athletes are going out for tennis," Shoemaker said. "Athletes who several years ago might have gone out for another sport are turning out for tennis itself.

"One of the big reasons for this is the increase popularity of tennis on the pro level and nation-wide," he went on. "This area, in particular (the Bay Area) is noted for its tennis interest."

Chabot is 3-1 in non-conference matches. The only loss was a practice match to GGC rival San Mateo, 5-4. Since then the Gladiators have beaten Evergreen of East San Jose (8-1); Menlo College (8-1) and Alameda.

The Gladiators' next non-league match is Wednesday against San Rosa on the latters' courts.

Suit threatens NCS tourney

A law suit which could delay the North Coast Section Wrestling Tournament is in the works as the result of some possible mishandled decisions by the Mission Valley Athletic League, a Fremont paper said yesterday.

The suit would be on behalf of Mission San Jose senior Tim Pebler (25-1). Pebler won a wrestle-off with Kennedy's Ken Smith (10-2) Tuesday with the understanding the victor would go to the NCS.

But the procedure was set-up by the league coaches without knowledge of league officals, who are the principals of the schools in the league.

When asked to approve sending Pebler's name to the NCS as a hardship case, league president Dr. Robert Callahan refused.

Pebler's parents have been preparing a law suit which they may file if MVAL officials don't change their minds.

Dr. Lamb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like some help. I am 40 and my doctor told me I have multiple sclerosis and that there is no cure or treatment for it. I have seen two neurosurgeons who agree that this is my problem.

With a wife and four kids you can see why I am upset. Not one of them gave me any help in the line of what to do about it. Is there nothing I can do?

DEAR READER — You can't make realistic plans for your family or for yourself without knowing the truth — even if the truth isn't very pleasant. It is true that there is no treatment for multiple sclerosis (MS) that will really cure it. I am optimistic that medical science will have an answer to multiple sclerosis in the near future.

MS is a disease that affects widespread areas of the nervous system. It can cause trouble with vision and speech as well as paralysis. It can be disabling and fatal. On the positive side many patients with the disease live a long time with minimal, if any, disability. Hopefully you will fall into that group and will live long enough for the entire picture of multiple sclerosis to change.

In one study of MS patients 74 per cent were alive 25 years later compared to 86 per cent of a population of the same age who did not have MS. At the end of 25 years two-thirds of the surviving patients are still ambulatory. Some patients have immediate and even fatal outcomes, others live for years, often with remissions and little, if any, evidence of the disease.

Which will you be? It is difficult to predict because of the nature of the disease to have complete remissions and severe relapses without warning.

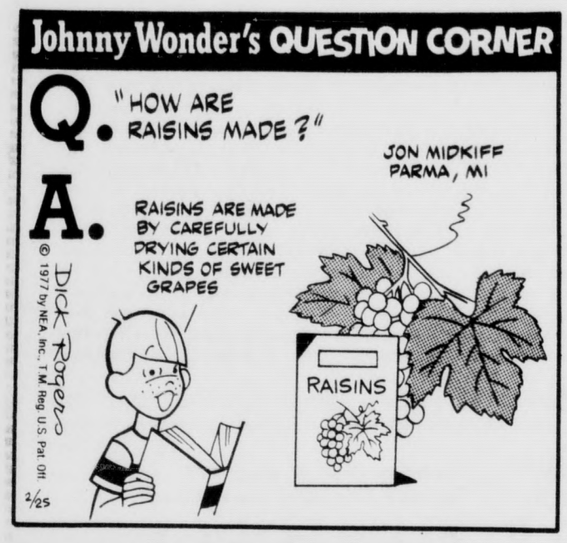
While MS is still classified as a disease of unknown cause there is now considerable evidence that it is caused by a "slow virus." There is evidence that the body produces antibodies to the virus. Also there is evidence that some people seem to be resistant to the virus infection and others susceptible. That may explain the differences in geographic distribution of the disease.

If the virus evidence holds up and the virus is identified there is hope that a vaccine can then be found to prevent MS. At present 250,000 Americans have the disease. Also it suggests that there may be new ways of treating the disease. Investigators think an exposed person produces antibodies to the mysterious virus. The MS patient then develops an allergic reaction to the antibodies formed.

Meanwhile the most that can be offered is really supportive care if you should need it. Steroid hormone treatment is sometimes helpful. There have been several diet treatments suggested but none has proved to be really useful and the best dietary approach is a well balanced diet that meets the nutritional needs of the patient. Remember, no matter how bad things are, there are remissions and you have good percentages on your side for your overall outlook for 25 years. A lot can happen in that length of time.

Strokes are the third most common cause of death in all Americans. They can also be crippling and affect a person's personality. To learn more about strokes and how to prevent them send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 2-5. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER



Q. "HOW ARE RAISINS MADE?"
JON MIDKIFF
PARMA, MI
A. RAISINS ARE MADE BY CAREFULLY DRYING CERTAIN KINDS OF SWEET GRAPES
RAISINS
DICK ROGERS

Most of us enjoy eating raisins. Raisins are dried grapes. Seedless grapes that are rich in sugar are especially suited for making raisins.

To make raisins, the sweet grapes are allowed to ripen on the vine. When they are ripe, the grapes are dried either in the sun or by artificial heat.

Grapes dried in the sun are called "natural" raisins. Sun-dried raisins are cut from the vines and placed on trays between the rows of vines. The grapes become raisins after drying in the sun for about two weeks.

After a further period of drying in boxes, they are taken to the packing plant where special machinery removes stems and dirt.

Grapes with seeds are softened and fed between rubber rollers which press out the seeds. The cleaned raisins are then pressed into sealed packages.

For Thursday, Feb. 17, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Caution and prudence are your watchwords today. Rushing into anything blindly breeds failure.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your image is a more precious possession than you may realize today. Don't do anything to cast a shadow on it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In order to make your point, you may be tempted to stretch the truth a bit today. Words, like rubber bands, can snap back.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Expecting more than you are entitled to is a risky approach today. Such an attitude could put a damper on the whole deal.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The unfortunate tendency to see things as you'd like them to be clouds your judgment today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Moving ahead without the boss's approval could be foolhardy today. Don't act without sanction from higher-ups.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could fall for the old carrot-dangling-on-the-stick ploy today. Even as you reach for it, you'll know you get nothing for nothing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Being overly anxious to finalize a situation today is unwise. Your haste could make waste instead of gain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In order to get others to do your bidding today you could promise more than you should. Expediency is no excuse for giving away the store.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Risky financial ventures that usually don't faze you may beckon today. Don't let your judgment be overruled by false hopes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your chances for acquisition today are not as good as you'd like to believe. Those aces you thought you had in the hole could be trumped.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Hunches and insights are usually your strong suit, but not today. Sitck with proven facts to be on the safe side.

East's three-club bid got his opponents right to six hearts. You can't really fault South's three-heart overcall and you can't blame North for bidding Blackwood four and five notrump and settling for six when South could not show a king.

South won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs and studied the hand unhappily. It looked as if the spade finesse would be wrong and that he would have to lose two tricks. Then he saw that he could make the hand if West held five diamonds and the king of spades.

So South drew trumps and led his losing club. East won and led back a spade. South rose with the ace and was now ready for operation squeeze.

He just led out all his trumps. Dummy's last four cards were the queen of spades and king-seven-three of diamonds. On the last trump, poor West had to go down to two diamonds to keep the king of spades; South discarded dummy's queen and made the last three tricks with diamonds.

Ask the Jacobys

A Michigan reader asks how you stop arguments when declarer waits until the end of the hand to claim a hundred honors.

The answer is that if declarer is worried about that, he can claim them any earlier time he chooses to do so. However, a defender is not allowed to claim honors when it may be giving his partner information.

SRV School candidates discuss issues

DANVILLE — Dealing with rapid growth and resulting financial problems are the major issues facing candidates seeking election to the San Ramon Valley Unified School District board of trustees.

Eleven candidates will be running for three seats on the five-member board March 8, during school elections.

Candidates whose names will appear on the ballot include Claudia A. Edwards, Danville; Harold Zuckerman, Danville; Thomas A. Jennings, Danville; John M. Scott, Danville; Robert Schepman, Diablo; "Pat Neil" Althizer, San Ramon; Don Sledge, Danville; Ronald D. Harris, Danville; Harline Kruger, Danville; Gregory L. McCoy, Danville; and Sue Cramer, San Ramon.

Discussing the rapid influx of students in the district, Edwards said, there should be "mandatory participation by developers in providing new classrooms for an increasing student population."

The candidate also she said she believes in long-range planning and in "conservative, standardized architectural planning."

Edwards, who has served on various school district advisory committees, says, "We must raise the educational standards and requirements in basic subjects for all students whether preparing for a vocation or college."

Zuckerman, incumbent, principal of Fremont High School, Oakland, says major issues include providing adequate space for the present students and for the large number of new students; being able to finance education "when we have reached the apparent limit of people's ability to pay" and offering a "valid curriculum."

"The major issue facing any school board is whether or not they are providing their students with an education which will give them the knowledge and skills necessary to get a job upon completion of schooling or to enter an institution of higher learning."

He adds that "there is very little control on how school monies are raised and the district hires experts in school administration and teaching. It is up to the board of education to develop policies that will guide these professionals towards providing the needed high standards."

Jennings, a BART safety engineer, said, "The rapid growth of the district requires every dollar allocated to education be spent as wisely as possible."

If elected, he plans to investigate whether every administrative job is necessary, "insist that education return to the basics," eliminate nonessential courses, stress more vocational education, combine high school recreation activites at one high school and request foreign language instruction in the first, second and third grades.

Jennings stressed, introducing competency-based instruction; restricting high school parking lots to faculty and guests; using more portable school buildings, investigation of construction problems at California High School; pressing for repeal of smoking areas at high schools; also, meeting with students and establishing a course review committee.

Althizer, a self-employed businessman, said the school district's developer policy should be strengthened and developers be required to pay $500 per bedroom instead of $225.

"The threat of additional tax increases to the community would be less if the developer would be made to share a bigger part of the burden," he said.

The candidate also thinks the district's vocational education program should include an apprenticeship with local businesses.

Sledge, a Pacific Telephone employe, believes the major issues are finance and facilities; the proposal to unify the Walnut Creek School District; the May bond election and completition of California High School, San Ramon.

He also thinks it's essential for the district to secure and protect its buildings. "The fire which destroyed Neil Armstrong School last fall and recent vandalism,which cost the taxpayers another $12,000 in needless destruction at Baldwin and Charlotte Wood schools, are hard examples of the crying need to protect our investment," he said.

Sledge also thinks it "is far cheaper to maintain a structure through a system of orderly maintenance than it is to replace it due to neglect."

Harris, director of research and development for the Clorox Co., thinks the major issues are school housing, excellence in education, finance, board-teacher relations and long-term planning.

He thinks the school district should study year-round schools and busing students to less crowded schools as a solution to the classroom shortage, he said.

Harris also thinks there should be higher graduation requirements and the district and chamber of commerce should "work together to create a climate receptive to desireable industry" to increase the district's tax base.

Kruger, an education consultant, said the major issue in the district is "maintaining and improving quality education while finding realistic solutions to provide for the influx of new students, the shortage of school facilities and financial needs."

McCoy, a lawyer, thinks the district should work more closly with elected state officials so legislation will be passed that's beneficial to the district.

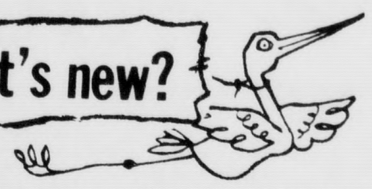
He also thinks there should be more elective courses, instead of "the more traditiional programs." McCoy also opposes unification of the Walnut Creek School District because it would take part of the San Ramon Valley district's assessed valuation.

Cramer, a housewife, thinks residents need someone from the south end of the valley, such as herself to ensure their needs are represented. "Too long the management of the schools has been carried out with one from this part of the valley," she said.

Regarding expected overcrowding in schools, she said, "I feel like many people, that year-round schooling, while not cheaper, will accomodate more students per school."

Scott said, "The problem now is how to provide educational facilities for the incoming new students without increasing, or at least minimizing, the burden on the existing population."

So, what's new?



Sixteen new babies have arrived in the Valley.

Steve and Carol Gradin of 477 Colusa Way, Livermore, announce the birth of a girl Jan. 24 at Valley Memorial Hospital.

At Kaiser Hospital, Walnut Creek, arrivals included:

Jan. 30: Joe and Isabel Martinez, 8366 Vomac Road, Dublin, a girl; Pamela and Mike Price, 288 Swan Drive, Livermore, a girl; Connie and James Hansen, 7637 Peppertree Road, Dublin, a boy.

Feb. 5: Frank and Deborah Diggan, 2323 Santa Rita Road, Pleasanton, a girl.

Feb. 6: Kareen and John Keilman, 467 Stanford Court, Livermore, a girl.

Feb. 8: Stephanie and Alan Kossack, 2821 Bowlin Ave., San Ramon, a boy; Eugene and Marion Cronshagen, 5259 Lilac Ave., Livermore, a boy; Ceanna and Charles Sinclair, 523 North I St., Livermore, a boy.

Feb. 9: George and Gloria Morandin, 1906 Rose Lane, Pleasanton, a boy.

Livermore candidate talks of objectives

Livermore school board candidate Barbara Stear, running for the two - year term on the board, stated recently:

"This community is dedicated to the philosophy of the neighborhood school — that each child attend the school nearest his home. Yet, we attempt to offer alternatives in education to the community.

"The two are incompatible.

"If a parent does not agree with the type of 'alternative education' being offered in the school nearest his home, he is forced to transport his child to the school which more nearly offers the type of education he feels he wants for his child! (If he can get his child into that school, enrollment - wise.)

"The educational offerings of each school should be so similar in structure, content and quality that parents would not feel the need to seek out a school that fits their needs."
